

Predatora (Chapter #1)
By thormanoftunder@yahoo.com

If you are an artist and would wish to picture this stories (draw, collage, shoot, whatever), please feel free to do it and e-mail me. But remember, this is just for fun and you will not be paid or anything, as I did writing.

Warning - Adult material. Not recommended for minors

This is a fiction story and all similarity with other works and characters is mere coincidence.

In an isolated lab orbiting her planet, a bio-scientist works on a personal project.

Rekhan-Srih-Gathr was a remarkable scientist on her planet, working on very important projects. She also was descendent of a greatest hunters clan and engaged to one of the greatest hunters.

But her society considered her as a "grakeh", what meant something like "fallen in disgrace".

The reason for this does not remain on her, but her "husband" was killed in a sport hunt on planet Earth and her older brother had same fate some years later, also on Earth.

Her society considered both as "grakeh" to have assumed they were unable to accomplish a simple hunt with a so weak specie, as humans were considered to be. This was transferred to her.

Of course she never accepted this once she new her beloved husband and her brother were two of the best hunters in the planet and if they were killed by humans, this specie should not be so weak.

Rekhan-Srih-Gathr was determined to prove that her beloved ones were honorable, as she knew she also was. She was a female-predator and she worked very hard on this personal project of hers, that basically was capture a baby human, train him on her society fighting and hunting techniques and show everybody that a simple human actually can be as mortal as the best warriors of her specie.

Her studies about human were ready and the scientist departed in a spaceship to Earth to capture a baby human. She knew exactly what kind of human she wanted.

The spaceship assumed orbit as soon as arrived. In a small pod, she landed on an east European farm.

Cloaked, she left the pod and moved to a small city. Previously studied, she reached a large house. It was the orphanage she had previously located and selected and she knew there were two young babies there.

However, surprisingly, on that night there was only one young baby. A three-weeks-old girl. The boy was adopted days before.

Initially Rekhan-Srih-Gathr became frustrated once she planned to take the boy; however, this unexpected situation could contribute to maximize her theory. What about to prove to her counterparts that a human female could be as mortal as a male predator? That's it. She took the girl that was sleeping. Denisa was the name written on her little cradle and she was a very beautiful and healthy baby.

Rekhan-Srih-Gathr personal project detailed studied human beings and she knew how to grow the girl up. A baby girl would never mind to the appearance difference if thought well.

So it happened. The scientist grew the girl as a male predator in her home planet. The best instructors were her mentors and since early age she was being trained on all martial arts, hunting and fighting skill as well to manage all kinds of weapons.

Several of Rekhan-Srih-Gathr's friends and colleagues considered her mad now, but never interfered on her project.

In spite of society looked to Denisa with arrogance and as she was an animal, she was very intelligent and learnt the languages and dialects and all tradition and society norms to live with not much problems.

Denisa became a beautiful redhead young woman and all her heavy training gave her a fit body to make any fitness champion yield

When Denisa was twenty, the great day arrived. Rekhan-Srih-Gathr took her to the Imperial Arena so she would be submitted to a series of tests in front of a selected audience. All the most remarkable scientists were there, as well the best warriors, the best hunters, members of the highest clans and the Emperor himself.

If Denisa failed, Rekhan-Srih-Gathr would be in disgrace forever and definitely banned from her birth planet...

Princ. Predator, 06 April 2007. © copyright by Denisa18

www.3dm3.com

(to be continued by someone...)